PARIS, April 15.

OUR ministers seem to be no less persuaded, than those of other courts, that the North is going in it's turn to be the theatre of war: But, notwithstanding what may happen, we are fully convinced that his most Christian majesty will take no other part in it than as mediator; and this is what we are told the marquis de Lamoignon has just notified to his Swedish majesty in very express terms, and that he added, that the intention of the king his master, was to give some rest to his poor subjects, a great number of whom had perished in the late war; and those who remained were greatly exhausted, by having been obliged to furnish very great sums of money to support the expenses of it: That his majesty would nevertheless let no opportunity slip of demonstrating to his allies his religious observation of the treaties he had concluded with them; as well by using his good offices in employing all his credit for maintaining, if it was possible, tranquillity between them and the other powers with whom they were upon the point of quarrelling, or to succour them by an augmentation of subsidies, the circumstances of the present conjuncture not permitting him to do it by sending them a body of troops.

Madrid, April 1. In the conferences that Mr. Keene had with Don Joseph de Carvajal, prime minister, and the marquis de l'Ensenada, secretary of state, he proposed to them the plan of a new convention between this court and that of Great Britain, for terminating by a definitive regulation all the differences relating to commerce and navigation in the West Indies. The affairs of the South sea company are to be adjusted in this convention. Mr. Keene spares no pains to bring his negotiation to a happy issue.

Stockholm, April 9. The construction of the galleys, and the raising of the two new regiments, have all the success that could be desired; several foreign officers of merit, who have proposed to bring hither a number of flat men from foreign countries, will be admitted into these regiments.

Berlin, April 15. It is confirmed that the march of the king's troops that are in Westphalia, is suspended. The regiments of Bredow and prince Ferdinand, and some others, that were to go out of their quarters, are also countermanded.

Vienna, April 12. On the 10th instant, all the court and the nobility took their leave of prince Charles of Lorraine; and his royal highness having afterwards taken his leave in form of their majesties, and all the Imperial family, set out for Brussels about 4 in the afternoon; the emperor himself and the princess Charlotte having accompanied him as far as Buckenhorff, where he changed horses for the first stage, and pursued his intended journey as far as the convent of Walk, where he lay the same night.

We are still under very great uneasiness about the situation of things in Hungary, where the Protestants have lost, in one district only, a hundred and five churches, the depriving them of which was attended with some bloodshed. Besides which, the dominant party have published a decree, obliging all the Protestant youth to assist at every solemn procession, on pain of forfeiting a crown; as also to resort to mass four times a year on the like penalty upon each omission. But as the deputies from the Protestants have already received assurances from her Imperial majesty, that she will freely appoint commissioners to make enquiry into their grievances, we flatter ourselves that all these violences will be stopped. Her Imperial majesty has also promised, that the severity complained of in the execution of the new regulation shall be examined and suppressed.

Dresden, April 1. Orders have been sent to general Sabin in Poland, to have the light horse, of whom he is the commander, in readiness to march on the first notice; and in conjecture that a camp is to be formed at Warsaw, to submit during pleasure, to his Polish majesty shall think proper to retain thither, in order to settle and establish the affairs of the kingdom, pursuant to his royal promise with them, very shortly for that purpose.

Ratisbon, April 13. On the 11th instant, about two in the afternoon, duke Charles of Lorraine, arrived at this city post from Vienna; and was saluted here by a discharge of all our cannon from the ramparts.

Bastia, April 3. At this juncture things are here in the strangest condition imaginable; signor Morra has given the strongest assurances imaginable to the French general, of his having no intention to disturb the peace of the island of Corsica, till his most Christian majesty's resolutions shall be fully known. The French troops are in a manner masters of every place of any strength; and of every pass of any consequence in this island. But as there are still some Corsicans to submit implicitly to terms with which they are acquainted, the marquis de Cussy has persuaded such as have submitted, to think it advantageous to their interests, and consistent with their honour, to act with the greatest severity against those people, to whom they have given the title of rebels; but it is believed, that if they are not speedily reduced, they will grow into a considerable body, and will then give us a great deal of trouble.

Hamburg, April 22. The affairs of the North seem to be still in the same critical situation; both sides continuing to fortify in Finland, but we hear no more of the march of the Prussian troops. Those of Saxony, it is said, begin to assemble in Lusatia, to watch the motions of the neighbouring states.

Brussels, April 24. Prince Charles of Lorraine, governor-general of the Austrian Netherlands, arrived here yesterday in the afternoon from Vienna.

From the LONDON MAGAZINE for January, 1749.

The following Bite upon the Publick is of so new and extraordinary a Nature; that it deserves to be recorded, as it shows, that a foolish Credulity and ridiculous Curiosity seem to have banish'd that Common Sense from the Quality and Gentry of this great Metropolis. Towards the middle of this Month, the following Advertisement appeared in our News Papers.

At the New Theatre in the Haymarket, on Monday next, viz. the 16th inst. to be seen a person who performs the several most surprising things following: viz. First, he takes a common walking cane from any of the spectators, and thereon plays the music of every instrument now in use; and likewise sings to surprising perfection. Secondly, he presents you with a common wine bottle which any of the spectators may first examine; this bottle is placed on a table in the middle of the stage, and he (without any equivocation) goes into it in sight of all the spectators, and sings in it; during his stay in the bottle, any person may handle it; and see plainly that it does not exceed a common tavern bottle.

Those on the stage, or in the boxes, may come in masked habits (if agreeable to them), and the performer (if desired) will inform them who they are.

Stage 7. 6. 2. Boxes 5. 5. Pit 3. 5. Gallery 2. 5. 5.

To begin at half an hour after six o'Clock.

Tickets to be had at the Theatre.

The performance continues about two hours and a half.

Not that any gentlemen or ladies, after the above patronage, (either singly or in company, or out of masks), are desirous of seeing a representation of any deceased person; such as husband or wife, sister or brother, or any intimate friend of either sex (upon making a gratuity to the performer) shall be gratified, by seeing and conversing with them (or some and notes, as it alive, and as it is desired) who will tell you your most secret thoughts in your past life; and give you a full

Full view of persons who have injured you, whether dead or alive.

For those gentlemen and ladies who are desirous of seeing this last part, there is a private room provided.

These performances have been seen by most of the crown'd heads of Asia, Africa, and Europe, and never appear'd public any where but once; but will wait on any at their houses, and perform as above, for five pounds each time.

There will be a proper guard, to keep the house in due decorum.

This other Advertisement was also published at the same Time, which, one would have thought, was sufficient to prevent the former's having any Effect.

LATELY ARRIVED FROM ITALY,

Signor Capistello Jampedo, a surprising dwarf, no taller than a common tavern tobacco pipe; who can perform many wonderful equilibres, on the slack or tight rope: Likewise he will transform his body in above ten thousand different shapes and postures; and after he has diverted the spectators two hours and a half, he will open his mouth wide, and jump down his own throat. He being the most wonderful wonder of wonders as ever the world wonder'd at, would be willing to join in performance with that surprising musician on Monday next in the Haymarket.

He is to be spoke with at the Black Raven in Golden lane, every Day from Seven 'til Twelve, and from Twelve all Day long.

Nevertheless, the Contrivance took, and the Playhouse was crowded with Dukes, Duchesses, Lords, Ladies, &c. the Consequence of which will appear from the following Paragraph.

Last night (Monday the 16th) the much expected drama of the Bottle-Conjurer of the New Theatre in the Haymarket ended in the tripi-comical manner following: Curiosity had drawn together prodigious numbers: About 7 the theatre being lighted up, but without so much as a single fiddle to keep the audience in good humour, many grew impatient. Immediately followed a chorus of catcalls, heighten'd by loud vociferations and beating with sticks; when a fellow came from behind the curtains, and bowing, said, that if the performer did not appear, the money should be return'd. At the same time a wag crying out from the pit: That if the ladies and gentlemen would give double prices, the conjurer would get into a pint-bottle; presently a young gentleman in one of the boxes seized a lighted candle, and threw it on the stage. This serv'd as the charge for sounding to battle. Upon this the greatest part of the audience made the best of their way out of the theatre; some losing a cloak, others a hat, others a wig, and others hat, wig and sword also. One party however staid in the house, in order to demolish the infidel, when the mob breaking in, they tore up the benches, broke to pieces the seats, pull'd down the boxes, in short dismantled the theatre entirely, carrying away the particulars abovementioned into the street, where they made a mighty bonfire; the curtain being hoisted on a pole by way of Rag. A large party of guards were sent for, but came time enough only to warm themselves round the fire. We hear of no other disaster, than a young nobleman's chin being hurt, occasioned by his fall into the pit with part of one of the boxes, which he had forced out with his foot. 'Tis thought the conjurer vanishes away with the bank. Many enemies to a late celebrated book, concerning the ceasing of miracles, are greatly disappointed by the conjurer's nonappearance in the bottle; they imagining, that his jumping into it would have been the most convincing proof possible, that miracles are not yet ceased.

Several Advertisements were printed afterwards, some serious others comical, relating to this whimsical affair; among the rest, was the following, which our hope, may be a Means of curing this Humour for the future.

This is to inform the Public,

That notwithstanding the great abuse that has been put upon the genus, there is now in town a man, who instead of creeping into a quart, or pint bottle, will change himself into a Rattle, which we hope will please both young and old. If this person meets with encouragement at this advertisement, he will then acquaint the gentry when and where he performs.

The Reason assigned, in another humorous Advertisement, of the Conjurer's not going into the Quart Bottle, was, that after searching all the Libraries, not one could be found, containing a story of the above Action in the Haymarket.

Will N. Conjurer: the Quality can bubble, and then And get their Gold with very little Trouble,

By putting giddy Lies in public Papers,—
As jumping in Quart Bottles,—such like Vapours;
And further yet, if not the Matter strain,
Would pipe a Tune upon a Walking-Cane;
Nay, more surprising Tricks! he swore he'd show
Grave-men who dy'd a hundred Years ago.
'Tis whimsical enough; what think ye, Sirs?
The Quality can ne'er be Conjurers:—
The Devil a bit, let me speak in brief,
The Audience Fools, the Conjurer a Thief.

L O N D O N.

March 25. Sir Edward Hawk is appointed to command the Squadron destin'd to convey the transports to Nova Scotia, where he is to continue some time to cover that infant colony; and very speedily that admiral will hoist his flag on board the Rippon, of sixty guns, at Portsmouth.

On Friday the lords of the admiralty put the Albany sloop of war into commission, and gave the command to Capt. John Rouse; the said sloop sails with admiral Hawk to Annapolis-Royal in Nova-Scotia.

There is an account that three French East India ships are arrived at Port l'Orient, richly laden with bale and other goods; which occasioned the actions to rise to 1,493. It is said that they have brought intelligence of great importance to the French nation.

April 8. By the Elizabeth sloop, Capt. Grantham, arrived express from the governor of Barbados, a number of letters were brought to very eminent merchants, many of which contain copies of a declaration, published by the governor of Maricao, concerning the establishing and peopling the Island of Tobago, &c. express'd in the most extraordinary terms.—Such as have greatly surprized all those concern'd in the West-India trade.

We hear two twenty gun ships are ordered to be fitted out with all expedition for Cape-Breton, on important affairs.

On Saturday last the young princess, daughter of their royal highnesses the prince and princess of Wales, was baptized at Leicester house, by the name of Louisa Anne, the prince of Hesse, the prince of Orange, and the queen of Denmark, were sponsors.

April 10. Last Friday evening there was a numerous meeting of the most eminent merchants of this city, when a letter from his grace the duke of Bedford was laid before them, to the following purport, that as soon as the declaration of the governor of St. Domingo was known, relating to the settling of the Island of Tobago, a courier was dispatched to Versailles relating thereto, which was return'd, and brought a declaration of the same court, which utterly denies having any knowledge of the abovemention'd governor's proceeding, and had dispatched orders to the said governor to desist from such proceedings; upon this it was unanimously agreed to appoint a committee to return their thanks to his grace for his wise and prudent conduct in this important affair.

April 17. The king has been pleas'd to assign a salary of 1000 l. a year to lieutenant Col. Cornwallis, who commands in chief the land forces destin'd for Nova Scotia, and also to confer on him the rank of Colonel.

NEW-YORK, June 26.

Capt. Phoenix who arrived here last Friday evening from Turks Island, informs us, that while he was there, he had notice given to beware of a schooner near the Bahama Islands, for that such a one belonging to Boston was to be a pirate, and was cruising thereabouts.

By Capt. Jauncey from Madeira, we have the melancholy news, that the ship Venus, Capt. Alexander Klinesmoth, of this port sailed from Madeira the 5th of November last, bound home, having four Portuguese sailors on board, who on the 27th following, in lat. 27, about 10 o'clock at night, fell upon the ship's company, and barbarously murder'd the captain, mate, and two English seamen, retaining only the second mate and another man, to assist them in navigating the vessel; they then ordered the second mate to carry the vessel to the Western Islands; off of which they arrived the 17th of December, the four villains, all the while rioting and destroying the cargo, and daily threatening the lives of the two remaining Englishmen; the next day, being in sight of St. Mary's they hoisted out their boat, then scuttled the ship, and went ashore, telling the people they had lost their vessel at sea. But the day after, the second mate getting an opportunity to acquaint a proper authority, the four villains were immediately apprehended.

hended, and put in Irons; and we hear they are to be sent home to Lisbon to take their trial, and 'tis hoped will there receive the just reward of their demerits: The names of the persons kill'd, besides the Captain, are John Carr, mate; John Welch and William Dudley, seamen.

We have advice from New Brunswick, that on Monday morning last abundance of dead fish appeared floating down Raritan river, which increased till next day, when numbers of them were drove ashore, and began to putrify; and 'tis imagin'd, that if the inhabitants don't speedily take measures, either to burn or bury them, they may cause such a stench as may produce diseases: 'Tis conjectur'd that the excessive hot weather of the day before, has occasioned their destruction, as we have since heard, that many died at the same time in Elizabeth-Town Creek.

ANNAPOLIS.

On Monday Evening last we had here a great deal of Rain, accompanied with Lightning and Thunder. A Chimney in Town was split by the Lightning, from the Top down to the Chamber-Floor; the Room was fill'd with a strong Smell of Sulphur; and a young Child stann'd for a while, without any other Hurt.
